PUBLIC EYE WITH BRYANT GUMBEL

- 06/03/98 "Skin Deep?"- Mary Kay Cosmetics is a company that's made a fortune catering to the needs and concerns of women. As part of that mandate, the company donated millions toward cancer research. But when Mary Kay saleswoman Claudine Woolf found herself ill with breast cancer and unable to make her quota, she says the cosmetics company forced her to relinquish her directorship. She is now suing the company for wrongful firing and discrimination. (C: Peter Van Sant - P: Lisa Freed)
- "Family Secret"- after years of research Ed Ball has written Slaves in the Family, a book detailing the Ball family's ancestry and the slaves they once owned. The book has received mixed reviews from the author's family, some of whom feel that it has unearthed an unsavory past (C: Bryant Gumbel - P: Robe Imbriano)
- "Kimberly's Trials"- a report on the controversy over whether Kimberly Soubielle, who killed her husband was the innocent victim of domestic abuse or a cold blooded murderer. Soubielle is looking to receive a full pardon from Florida Governor Lawton Chiles. (C: Kristin Jeannette-Meyers - P: David Wald)
- "Public Eye Q"- Question: what percentage of our brains do we use? Answer: scientists can't accurately measure how much of our brain we are using at any one time, but they believe that over the course of a day the answer is nearly 100 percent (P: David Rubin)
- "Man of Letters"- an interview with 22-year-old spelling whiz Sean Neumann (C: Steve Hartman - P: Christopher E. Martin)

- 06/10/98 "Struggle For Love"- many children found in orphanages in Eastern European countries suffer from attachment disorder, which is often reflected in violent and uncontrollable behavior. Included are interviews with an American woman who, with her husband, adopted three Russian siblings suffering from the disorder; Hugh Leichtman, an expert on attachment disorder; and family therapist Joe Langione (C: Maggie Cooper - P: Lisa Freed)
- "The King And I"- an interview with Queen Noor and King Hussein of Jordan. The Queen, formerly Lisa Halaby, is the first American member of an Arab royal family, as well as the wife of the longest reigning leader in the Arab world.
